THE TREE PEONY.

A Noble Flower That Is Being Culti-vated in England to Some Extent.

The noblest flower of the summer season is the tree peony, and those who have not got it in their gardens should try and find room for it. For considerable more than a thousand years it has been cultivated by the Chinese, and they have raised hundreds of magnificent varieties and kept them carefully, so that they did not pass them carefully, so that they did not pass out of the country.

In Japan also it is a great flower, and like the chrysanthemum and the iris is abundant in that country in many fine forms, some of which are now at last being brought to us. By fortunately we are not entirely dependent upon such uncertain sources for our plants, as for some years past English and continental raisers have been at work upon the tree peony, and they have been readed with the country and they have been readed with the country of the co

The aim should rather be to retard growth, and even then it will start quite soon enough.—London Graphic.

Married Women in the West. The western married man has no standing in society except by his wife's side. The men who "run" the towns are seldom their unmarried clerks. In the old courtly days a man and wife had a social indi-viduality; but when a man attends a social gathering in the west he is expected to seat himself beside his wife and behave as well as he can, to the end that people may understand that he is not only fond of the worthy woman at home, but in company

BICYOLE RECORDS GO DOWN.

The Recent Remarkable Riding of Zimmerman, of New Jersey.

The best known bicycle rider in America today is undoubtedly Arthur A. Zimmerman, of New Jersey. His remarkably good man, of New Jersey. His remarkably good work in competition with the best men in England recently added much to an al-ready great reputation.

ARTHUR A. ZIMMERMAN.

Returning from abroad with the plaudits of two nations ringing in his ears, the young New Jersey wonder recently inaugurated at Springfield, Mass., and Hartford a series of record breaking feats that astounded the bicyclists of the country. At Hartford Zimmerman lowered the three-quarter mile record to im. 61-5s., the half mile record to im. 14-5s. and the quarter mile to 27 seconds.

mile record to im. 1 4-5s. and the quarter mile to 27 seconds.

At Springfield, Sept. 8, Zimmerman reduced the world's three, four and five mile records to 7m. 15 4-5s., 9m. 41s. and 13m. 9-5s. respectively. The best previous time for the three distances was 7m. 17 2-5s. for three miles, 9m. 47 3-5s. for four miles, and 12m. 1094s. for five miles, made by F. J. Osmond, the famous English rider.

Zimmerman has repeatedly demonstrated that he is the fatest racing man in America by defeating such famous riders as George F. Taylor, champion of the world, at one mile, and Willie Windle, the exchampion. As a rider against time Zimmerman has not usually been so successful, and most of his record breaking performances are made in hotly contested rul, and most of his record breaking performances are made in hotly contested races, where the presence of competitors spurs him on to remarkable speed, but at Springfield, Sept. 9, he cellipsed all previous performances by riding a mile on the old fashioned oval track at Hampden park in 2m. 64-5a., just one-fifth of a second faster than Nancy Hanks' time over a similar have been at work upon the tree peony, and they have been rewarded with some sterling productions.

The first tree peony was brought into this country rather more than 100 years ago through the instrumentality of Sir Joseph Banks, who had heard of its existence and popularity in Chinese gardens. A few others were obtained later on, but down to 1850 there were not a dozen distinct kinds in cultivation. In recent years, however, the flower has been greatly improved. Doubtless there are a great many kinds much alike, but there are also magnificent varieties that we ought to possess and grow as we do good roses.

Among the early varieties that came to this country was one with single flowers, which were white, with a dark crimson stain at the base of the petals. This was and still is supposed to be the type and parent of the now numerous and lovely progeny in existence. Occasionally, and often when least expected, one meets with a grand plant of this and a similarly colored double flowered variety.

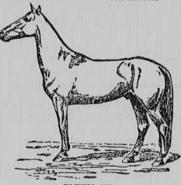

A short time back, when passing along the road in a remote country district, we saw two magnificent plants of this kind, one on each side of the walk leading up to a farmhouse. They were each more than four feet in height, almost as much in diameter and bearing scores of blooms. Many years must elapse before a specimen of such dimensions is obtained, for although tree peonies grow vigorously enough three parts of the growth die back each season to where a prominent bud is formed. The Great Pacer Flying Jib.

There's a new star in the pacing world, and he bears the odd name of Flying Jib.

Like many other turf phenomena, he halls from the Gold State and is the property of J. B. Haggin, the copper king and owner of Salvator, Firenzi and Miss Woodford. Early in the season Flying Jib was comparatively unknown but he had done comparatively unknown, but he has done such wonderful pacing for a green horse this year that he already holds a record of 200% and has never yet been headed. formed.

One great point in their favor, however, is that they commence to bloom in quite a young state, and plants that are little more than one foot high will bear four or five great flowers, and these, with the ample foliage that clothes the shoots, make even small plants appear of considerable size in their summer dress. Above all plants they need good culture, and as when once planted they are very impatient of disturbance at the root a thorough preparation of the site should be made.

Some care must also be exercised in choosing the postion, for, though the plants are in every respect hardy they start into growth so soon that frost sometimes injures the young shoots. The risk of this is obviated by choosing a site where the early morning sun does not shine upon the plants, several degrees of frost not having the slightest effect upon the shoots if they thaw gradually. It is an easy matter to arrange some temporary framework, over which canvas or some other light protecting material could be thrown should frost come during the crit.

FLYING JIB. In short next to Hal Pointer, 2:05%, king of all pacers, Flying Jib has been the sen-sational side wheeler of the season. Ho is a stable companion of the famous Direct, whose contests with Hal Pointer have been so close and exciting. Like Direct, Flying Jib is a trotting bred pacer. His dam was the Middletown mare by Middletown, son of Hambletonian. His sire was Algona, son of Alment. If Flying Jib shows as much of Aiment. If Flying old shows as indead improvement next season as he has during the present campaign, Hal Pointer's crown will be in peril. To trainer George Starr is due the credit of developing the wonderful California gelding.

Croscent Athletic Club's New Home. The Crescent Athletic club, of Brooklyn is now occupying its handsome new club-house at Bay Ridge.

This new home is fitted up luxuriously, and has fine accommodations for land and water sports. The clubhouse cost about 850,000. The house is the remodeled Van Brunt mansion, where Mosher and Dong lass, the abductors of Charlie Ross, were shot. The Crescent Athletic club is fa-mous for its work on the football field. A large percentage of the members were in their day famous college players, and from their every year is picked an eleven that is almost equal to the elevens of Princeton and Yale.

SPORTING NOTES

The Pittsburg team's improved form of play is almost as marked as that which has brought fame and public attention to the Clevelands during the last two months. If they had the equal of the Cleveland's pitcher they would yet be a dangerous rival to the Ohio club. Henry Fournier recently broke the world's bicycling record for one hour in France by riding twenty-five miles in 61m.

Sixteen members of the New York Ath letic club have ridden over 1,000 miles this year, and have each received a hand some gold medal.

Robert Bonner is having a 60-pound pneumatic wheeled sulky built for Sunol. The wheels will be forty-eight inches in diameter.

Hereafter any trainer who harbors runaway apprentice will be fined $100. It is presumed the $100 will disappear into the fund for disabled jockeys.

He Changed His Mind. A warrant was issued yesterday for Jako Myers, charging bim with drawing a meat cleaver on Henry Hock at the market house. The warrant was placed in the hands of Officer Smith to be executed. He found Myers at the market house in his buggy, and when told he was wanted said he would hitch his horse and go with the officer. Changing his mind he gave the horse a sudden cut with the whip and went out Nelson extract. He want up Railroad avenue at street. He went up Railroad avenue at a fearful rate, and at the corner of Jefstreet. He went up Railroad avenue at a fearful rate, and at the corner of Jefferson street and Shenandoah avenue his buggy struck against a telegraph pole, almost totally destroying it. Myers was thrown from the buggy, but recovered himself instantly and sprang on his borse, which was uninjured, with the shalves of the buggy still attached to the harness, and made his escape. Officer Smith was seen carrying the hat of Myers, which had been left on the ground where the buggy was broken, to the station house. Myers was afterward arrested at his home beyond Alleghany Institute and brought in the city. When he fell from his buggy he received a severe cut on his left arm, which had to be attended to by a physician. He was bailed in the sum of $100 for his appearance before Justice Turner this morning.
